CHARLEROI BATHING BEACH IS OPENED FOR THE COMING SEASON

Guy M. Dailey to be in Charge During Summer at Local Institution

BEACH IS MUCH BEAUTIFIED

Tree Trunks Painted and Flower Gardens Planted Along Shore to Improve Appearance—Bathing Space is Enlarged.

Without any formality the Charleroi Bathing Beach is being opened today for the summer and from the air of attractiveness which prevails at that river point, the beach will be this summer even more popular than it was last. Guy W. Dailey, who ranks as the champion swimmer and diver of the world has been engaged as the instructor and manager in charge.

Swimming from this day forth will be possible at a beach as conveniently located as any could be along the Monongahela river. Rules of guidance for swimmers will be carefully enforced.

Along the shores has taken place a transformation within the last few weeks. Leaves are sprouting on numerous trees. The first five feet of the trunk of the trees has been painted white. A promenade has been arranged and several large flower beds in which have been planter geraniums and other flowers have been put in nice shape with a fence encircling the beds.

The water today is high and none too warm for swimming. Flats are being swung about as boarders of the beach, which has been greatly enlarged. The fence donated last year by the Pittsburg Steel company has been again erected for use as a children's beach that they do not stray into too deep water.

Bath houses have been renovated and improved and an additional stand has been erected by U. S. Orange, it to be used as a refreshment stand. Caretakers will be in charge of both bathhouses during the swimming season.

ITALIAN RESERVISTS SEEK NEWS CONCERNING CALL TO SERVICE

Offices of Counsel in Pittsburg Besieged by Enthusiastic Would-be Fighters for News.

The offices of the Italian vice consul, Joseph Natali, in the Curry building, Pittsburg were beseiged Friday by Italian reservists anxious to return to their country and fight against Austria. There was such a jam in the afternoon that it was difficult to gain entrance into one of the rooms. There was much patriotic enthusiasm among the reservists. There were middleaged and young men mostly in the throng.

Consul Natali explained that all his office could do was to give the information that was asked. He said that most of the reservists came with such questions as might be asked at his office any day of any year, and that his office was careful not to overstep the bounds of neutrality.

NEW LAW COMPELS PROMPT REPORTING OF LEAST EVIDENCE OF DISEASE OF CHILDREN

State Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon Tells of Workings of Statute Recently Approved by Governor Brumbaugh

Under the provision of an act which has received the approval of Governor Brumbaugh, every teacher, principal, superintendent, or other school, will be required to report to the health officer of a city, borough or township as the case may be, any unusual rash, skin eruption, sore throat, symptoms of whooping cough or any disease of the eye, noticed in any child or person attending such school, shall immediately exclude such child or other person from schools pending the action of the health authorities and shall report such fact to the health officer of the city, borough or township as the case may be.

This act also provides for a reduction of the quarantine period for measels, German measles, mumps and chicken-pox to 16 days if the attending physician so requests and certifies to the recovery of the person so afflicted. The quarantine period for these diseases heretofore has been 21 days.

In discussing the provisions of this new law, Dr. Samuel G. Dixon commissioner of health, said:

"The provision requiring school exclusion and the reporting to the health officer of skin eruptions, sore throat, symptoms of whooping cough, and diseases of the eye, will unquestionably be of great assistance to the health authorities in reducing the number of the communicable diseases to which children are susceptible. Unfortunately, in many cases diphtheria in its early stages goes unrecognized by parents who do not appreciate the danger of what excluded from school will cause them to bring the matter to the attention of their family physician and in this way many cases of diptheria in the incipient stage will receive treatment which otherwise would go until the little patients had reached a much more dangerous stage of the disease.

"There are several diseases in which skin eruptions appear. Children with mild cases ofter attend school and infect others who have the disease in a more virulent form.

"As the association in school is the means by which the majority of children contract communicable diseases, these additional safeguards it is hoped will aid in lessening the number of cases and further reducing the death rate."

In addition to the provisions above mentioned, the bill provides that those residing on premises quarantined for scarlet fever, measles, German measles, mumps and chicken-pox, who have had the particular disease for which the quarantine has been established, when official records show that they have had it or where the attending physician certifies to personal attendance during such disease, may be permitted to remove to other premises occupied by adults and children having had the particular affection and resume school attendance the day after such removal. Children removed from premises quarantined for any of these diseases who have not themselves had the particular affection may only be removed to homes occupied exclusively by adults and may, fourteen (14) days after such removal, be readmitted to school.

Pupils residing on premises quarantined for diphtheria, not contracting the disease, if immunized with diphtheria antitoxin, may be removed to other premises occupied only by adults and may re-enter school five days after such removal.

In all instances, removal from premises takes place as heretofore, with the consent of the health authorities and after taking a disinfecting bath and putting on disinfected clothing.

The provisions of this bill which permit school attendance under certain restrictions of children who have already had the diseases mentioned, will save thousands of days of school attendance to children throughout Pennsylvania.

DAIRYMEN OBJECT TO PROPOSED PLAN

Will Place Matter Before The Public Service Commission Next Week

TO USE PICTURES AS EVIDENCE

Washington county dairymen will gather at the Chamber of Commerce room in the Keenan Building, Pittsburg on Tuesday, June 8, to take up their fight against the proposed plan of the railroads to increase the shipping rate of milk from seven cents to 14 cents a can and to compel all milk to be shipped in 10-gallon instead of five gallon cans. The hearing of the testimony of the dairymen before the public service commission will begin Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The case of the railroads was completed at the May hearing. The dairymen will now take up their side of the fight and are confident that their arguments will prove convincing. The milk shippers will be represented on the stand by two witnesses residing on each of the railroads against which the fight is being waged.

The witnesses will be present at the first meeting. Dairymen on the Montour and Panhandle railroads will attend Tuesday, and those from the Wabash, Chartiers and Baltimore and Ohio, Wednesday.

Pictures are in the hands of the dairymen showing conditions at the loading stations. These are taken impartially and show conveniences enjoyed by the dairymen and inconveniences endured by them. For instance, at some stations the platform is so low that a 10-gallon can of milk could be put into a car only with the greatest difficulty. Other inconveniences are claimed to abound and these points will be put plainly to the commission.

POLICE PROMPTLY NOTIFIED

Story of Robbery at Fallowfield Avenue Establishment Comes Out

Quickly Round up Accused Ones—Supposed Ringleader is Youth of 18 and His Alleged Accomplice is But 14 Years Old.

Following the entry and robbery of the store of Alexander Czartoyski at 911 Fallowfield avenue this morning after 4 o'clock, Theophilis Kelow, aged 18, Chaunce Mugrage, aged about 20 and Leonard Braddock a lad of about 14 years were nabbed by the police. Then the story of the robbery came out. Several packages of tobacco and perhaps a few other articles were taken and a window in the store was broken in order to get them.

Kelow freely admits his guilt, and implicates Mugrage as having received the stolen goods, and young Braddock of having assisted him. All three are factory workers.

The story told by Kelow in his cell at the lockup is that he and Braddock went to the place and that he tapped the window with a stick. He entered he says, and handed out the goods to Braddock. It was done with the full knowledge of Mugrage, according to Kelow, and Mugrage received the goods later. The supposed robbery took place at 4 o'clock this morning. Kelow says he had entered the store before. Recently he with others was accused of destroying flower beds at points on the hill, but he denies stoutly his guilt.

Arrests of the trio were made shortly after the occurrence this morning the police being notified promptly of the robbery. The two older of the trio were placed in the lockup, and the lad of 14 was let go. Probably information will be made against Kelow and Mugrage before a justice of the peace and the younger lad's case placed in the hands of the juvenile court authorities.

FATHER AND THE UPLIFT

We knew it would come, even if the waiting was long and that in time father would receive some attention, says the Omah Bee. He is now getting his. A pseudo-scientific body has added to other entertainment at the San Francisco Fair by announcing that fathers should share with mothers in responsibility for the family and the care of the children. More than this, it is proposed that a federal board shall be created to take charge of this important matter and look after the training of fathers along right lines.

Good, old dad! At last he is to share in the uplift. All he has to do nowadays is to hustle for food and clothing for the family, to supply its pleasures as well as its necessities, and make such arrangements for the provision of these as will continue some time into the future after his taking off. He must help Willie and Mary and the rest of the little folks in their work and their play; he must tend the furnace, look after the lawn, fix it with the landlord, the doctor, the grocer and all the rest of the host his family bring him into contact with and when this is done he can snatch a little sleep between times, so he can hold his job. And now, he is to be permitted to have some share in the responsibilities of the home, and to be especially trained in order that he may be properly fitted for his new duties.

It's a great world for dad!

JOE T. S. COWAN

ing his claims upon the Democrats are two to nominate, but he is urgto support him upon his merits. An editor of one of the Democratic papers of the county his career has found him continually on the firing line of progressive Democracy—hammering home the propoganda of true, honorable and upright citizenship fifty-two weeks in the year. At this particular crises in the world's history when our brothers across the sea are at each other's throats, his pen and voice are used admonishing all liberty-loving, peaceful citizens to stand by that incomparable apostle of universal brotherhood and peace—President Woodrow Wilson.

Cowen has faith in the Democratic party. He has faith in the intelligence of the rank and file and believes that no man in this county dare say that any individual carries the democratic organization in his vest pocket. Such insinuations or statements would be an insult, to those who year out, stand firmly by a principle and often go down to defeat smiling in the happy satisfaction that at least their conscience is clear so far as the exercise of their franchise is concerned.

He asks for the support of the Democrats at the primary because he believes in his fitness for the position realizing fully the responsibility that necessarily devolves upon a member of the board of County Commissioners. His capability have been put to the test in the business world and he has given a good account of himself. He has resided in Roscoe during the past fifteen years.

Born 41 years ago; the son of a blacksmith who also was a Methodist preacher and brought up amid industrial strife he is fully competent to understand the needs of a great department of this commonwealth such as Washington county in so far as those who would administer from the commissioners office have jurisdiction.

He gained his education in the public schools of Cleveland, O., through travel and twenty-five years in newspaper work, and for nearly that length of time up to the present has been an active member of Typographical union.

He does not apologize for coming out for the nomination and hide behind that stereotype half-truth "my friends have urged me to run." The position of commissioner is a job and it pays a man to run for it and he is desirous of having his friends support him and also wants to add others to his list of friends and enlist their support. If a public office is worth having it is worth asking for without trying to make it appear that you are doing the public a favor by accepting it. Cowen asks your support and pledges himself, in the event of his election, to be the servant of the people, guarding their interests as they naturally expect any person to do who is working for them on a salary.

We believe that the "Double-Cure" process, common with a great many Tire Manufacturers under different names, adds unnecessary expense to Tire Cost, which expense the Methods of the Goodrich Factory eliminate through its Precision "Single-Cure."

Monday Will Be Bread Day For Belgium in This City

A PENNY per day from every American would provide for all the destitute in Europe.

Think of it: One cent per head from the inhabitants of the United States means a million dollars daily!

So, after all, it ought to be a very simple matter to feed starving Belgium.

IF all of us did our share---

BUT that would mean calling upon the babe in arms and the cripple on crutches---the slum dweller and the backwoodsman---farmers and villagers and city folk---it would call for an organization, not only to carry the news of Belgium's plight, but to collect the funds and do any number of other perfectly impossible things.

While all of America must, in theory, provide for Belgium's starving, a few Americans will, in actuality, have to do the work.

The burden of relief falls upon the big cities where concentrated action is possible and where the daily press can bring the condition of these unfortunate refugees constantly to the notice of the community, until everyone comprehends the dire straits and the pressing need of Belgium's homeless waifs. In such instances as this, you, the average man are all too likely to assume that your co-operation is not vitally required, that there will be enough assistance rendered without your aid, and contrasting your means with the income of a multitude of richer men, will, in genuine sincerity, figure that a general call for aid is not specifically directed at you.

But you probably have not stopped to think that the wealthy have donated millions and the food which it bought is gone, while the famine and privation continue and steadily grow more severe. Philanthropy has assumed such magnificent proportions in recent years, and foundations and endowments have distributed such colossal sums that we're used to the idea of "Letting the Georges do it."

Whenever occasion arises for public relief and subscription lists are opened, one group of kind and public-spirited men and women invariably provides the necessary funds.

Taken all in all, it is not an exaggeration to assert that ninety per cent of charitable enterprises are supported by one per cent of our citizens.

But Belgium will perish as a nation, her famishing women and children will die on the hills and in the open fields, if you and the type which you represent do not immediately and earnestly appreciate that this job is too big for the "George Society"—that everybody, everywhere, must, and now, co-operate to prevent the ghastliest tragedy of famine that history knows.

Don't think of the millions of dollars that have been raised, but of the millions of Belgians who are still destitute. The one sum seems stupendous until you divide its beneficiaries, and then you'll find what a short end the individual gets.

The Relief Commission at no time has been able to allow more than seven cents per day for the feeding of man, woman and child. (Imagine how luxuriously you could feast on 50c a week) and yet this miserable pittance has been received with a gratitude that you, (whose notion of poverty has never included even the idea of a week of existence without shelter or provision) cannot possibly imagine.

Get this picture fixed in your mind and dwell upon it; whole communities, including families, which a year ago were dwelling in opulence, are without money, without homes, without clothes (except the horrible rags in which they stand) and without hope of survival, except through the prompt aid of America.

No other country can undertake the tremendous task.

The Belgian aged, the Belgian children and the Belgian women will perish by the hundreds of thousands if we do not continue to ship them bread.

You surely don't want it on your conscience that for lack of a few dollars' worth of food, (upon which one human being can, in that war-mangled kingdom, exist for a whole month)—an old man or a young girl writhed in the unutterable torture of hunger and died.

And yet, it is not overstating the situation to say that your refusal to aid, may mean such a tragedy for at least one person.

There are so many selfish and thoughtless among us—so many who won't or who can't be reached, that every man convinced of Belgium's necessities must not only do all that lies within his power, but constitute himself a campaigner and appeal to his friend and acquaintance to do their best for the cause.

One sack of flour will save one life for a whole month. A sack of flour costs two dollars.

How many sacks of flour will you and your efforts put upon the ship of mercy which Western Pennsylvania will soon send speeding across the seas?

Monday will be Bread Day in this town.

BE PREPARED to contribute to the local committee on Monday. How many sacks of flour will you provide?

Forty cities and towns in Western Pennsylvania are making up their contributions. In all Western Pennsylvania, we are asking something from every home. Will this community do its share?

By this system each individual is placed on record, showing how many places they secure credit, and with what degree of promptness they pay their bills. The book will show, not the financial standing, but the CREDIT STANDING of everybody, man or woman, who trades on time, and as it is not a financial rating the poor man who pays his bills promptly will secure higher rating than the man with means who does not.
